

Information for Your Doctor

About IntroCann

IntroCann is a free service that assists patients and doctors in simplifying the process of accessing, under the existing regulatory framework, imported and legal medicinal cannabis - making it easier for patients to obtain the support they need.

IntroCann is a South African health-tech platform which provides patients with information on importing legal medicinal cannabis and assists doctors in applying for and accessing medicinal cannabis on their patients' behalf. The platform offers a range of educational, access and management services. By utilising the platform, doctors are able to access patient treatment plans with relevant detailed guides to dosing and titration for the specified product.

Medicinal Cannabis is a Prescription Medicine

Medicinal cannabis is available via a Section 21 application, processed by the South African Health Products Regulatory Authority (SAHPRA).

Any registered doctor in South Africa can prescribe medicinal cannabis.

Steps to Take

1. Patient registers online
2. Section 21 application submitted.
3. Doctor and patient complete the online Informed Consent and SAPHRA fee paid.
4. Doctors and patients receive email notification of approval.
5. Patient contacted, order confirmed and delivered.
6. Call IntroCann support at any time during the process.

"IntroCann empowers and educates doctors to effectively incorporate medicinal cannabis as a component of patient treatment."
